NEWSMAP illustrates striking range of 1,000- and 2,000-mile Soviet missiles being installed in Cuba. The missiles could reach Hudson Bay in Canada and hit objectives as far south as Lima, Peru. The U.S., considering the bases a threat to hemisphere security, has begun a blockade of Cuba to prevent a further buildup.

Navy Moves To Intercept Cuba-Bound Soviet Vessels

Red Ships May Ignore Blockade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Communists approached an armed showdown on the high seas at mid-morning today, as Soviet cargo ships plowed toward Cuba and American naval power converged on them.

Strung out along the approaches to Cuba were an estimated 25 Soviet ships. Some of them quite possibly were carrying offensive weapons to the Cuban Communist ally—a movement which President Kennedy says must be stopped.

At 9 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, Kennedy's quarantine went into effect and the historic moment was at hand. The first warships headed in toward the first Soviet cargo ships.

A few hours before, the Navy had broadcast radio warnings to all shipping to stand clear of the area, that it could become dangerous.

There was a report that Soviet Embassy officials here were claiming that no Soviet ship would heed the stop signal of any U.S. warship.

Cuba's Fidel Castro saw the quarantine as an act of war and Moscow took a grave and angry view.

For more than a year the tension between the United States and Cuba had mounted. Then on Monday night, Kennedy made his move, announcing a quarantine with the clamp on offensive arms shipments into Cuba. He was accepting the fact that anything might happen as a result.

The Defense Department made public aerial reconnaissance photographs which it said proved the charge that the Soviet Union was installing or has installed ballistic missiles, almost certainly with nuclear warheads, on Cuban sites.

The Defense Department kept secrecy on the total of Navy ships and planes assigned to the quarantine operation and on the precise areas in which they were operating.

All indications pointed to a force of a size and type which seemed more than ample for the job. Obviously, the preparations were for events even more far-reaching than stopping merchantmen at sea, which might flare up from this first action.

The Washington Post said Soviet military attaches were spreading the word at a Soviet Embassy reception Tuesday night that Soviet ships steaming toward Cuba are under orders not to be stopped or searched.

Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin declined to refute the statements. Speaking of an assistant naval attaché who had made the remark, Dobrynin said: "He is the one who knows what the Navy is going to do, not I."

Kennedy signed a proclamation Tuesday night formally invoking the quarantine against offensive weapons — an act he said was needed to defend the security of the United States.

Ten minutes later, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara sent the Navy's Task Force 136 its formal orders to halt all ships headed for Cuba, to examine their cargoes and turn away any vessels—Soviet or other nationality—found to be carrying missiles, bombs, bombers and other weapons that could menace the United States or Latin-American nations.

The blockaders—already poised across the Atlantic—were told to use the minimum amount of force necessary to enforce the ban but

Communists Advancing at 4 Points

Indians Reject Red Chinese Proposals To End Fighting

NEW DELHI (AP) — Chinese Communists are advancing into northeast India at four points, and India has rejected Peiping's proposal for peace talks on Chinese terms, an official spokesman said today.

Chinese troops have driven to within 10 or 12 miles of the important monastery town of Tawang, in northeast India, to the west and are also pushing toward it from the north.

A fresh Chinese attack into India has been launched at Asola, on the northeast frontier about 100 miles east of Tawang.

At the eastern end of the northeastern border, near Burma, an Indian post has fallen and the Chinese are driving down the Luli-

River valley. At the northwest end of the disputed Himalayan frontier, in Ladakh, the Chinese have attacked for the first time in Changchenmo River valley and have captured a post.

Although the spokesman declined to comment on the overall Ladakh situation, it appeared to observers that the Chinese might have overrun all Indian military posts on what the Chinese claim to be their territory.

High Indian officials said a Red Chinese proposal for a meeting between Prime Minister Nehru and Premier Chou En-lai to settle the border dispute was "pure hypocrisy."

The officials also rejected a companion Chinese proposal, broadcast from Peiping, for a cease-fire under which each nation would withdraw its troops 12.5 miles from the present battle lines.

A government spokesman, in the first official comment on the Chinese offer, termed it "vague, confusing and deceptive." This was viewed as an indication Nehru would reject the proposal, although the spokesman declined to go that far.

One Indian official said the offer of talks might be considered if the Chinese withdrew to the position they held Sept. 8. This was just before their troops

U.N. Council Deadlock Seen

Small Nations Ask Thant Act on Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In an effort to avert a shooting war over Cuba, 45 smaller powers pressed Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant today to call on all nations involved to stop any provocative acts until some solution is reached.

The Security Council scheduled a second round of debate on the Cuban crisis.

Convinced that the council would wind up in a deadlock over opposing U.S. and Soviet resolutions, the small powers delegated Ghana, the United Arab Republic and Cyprus to ask Thant to intervene.

Many of the small nations wanted to call directly on President Kennedy to lift his arms quarantine of Cuba, but it was decided instead to address the appeal in general terms.

Considerable doubt was felt that the United States, having ordered its warships to halt all vessels in Cuban waters, would pay any attention to an appeal addressed only to it. The group—made up of nations from Africa, Asia, Europe and Latin America—was hopeful that a general appeal to the United States, the Soviet Union and Cuba might ease the situation.

Some observers viewed the small nation action as a sign that the United States might not get the support it hopes for if it takes its case to the 109-nation General Assembly. Many nations which strongly oppose both Cuba and the Soviet Union feel a blockade is too drastic a move and risks a head-on collision between the United States and the Soviet Union.

U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson urged the 11-nation Security Council to act at once before the Soviets swallow up the world piecemeal.

Stevenson charged that the flow of Soviet missiles and other offensive weapons into Cuba is a "grave threat to the Western Hemisphere and the peace of the world."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin countered that the U.S. blockade is a reckless act which brings the world to the brink of nuclear war. He branded as "completely false" U.S. charges that the Soviet Union has based offensive missiles in Cuba.

The United States introduced a resolution demanding that the Security Council order the Soviet Union to pull out all offensive weapons it has sent to Cuba.

The Soviets put in a counter resolution calling on the United States to end the blockade and start talks with the Soviet Union and Cuba to "normalize the situation" and "remove the threat of war."

Cuba Is Topic For Town Hall Tonight

"Cuba In 1962," a topic chosen before recent developments occurred, will be discussed by William L. Oltmans, a foreign correspondent for United Press International, when he speaks at the first Salem Town Hall meeting of the season tonight at 8:15 in the Junior High School auditorium.

Oltmans, who has covered the United Nations and has met Russian Premier Khrushchev, will discuss Cuba from first-hand observations. He has made frequent visits there.

Home 'Blitzed' by Federal Officials

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Federal officials conceded failure today after almost literally taking apart an $18,000 ranch home in an 11½-hour search for most of $1.5 million stolen Aug. 14 in the Plymouth, Mass., mail robbery.

Thomas R. Richards, 37, a World War II Navy veteran who bought the home in December 1958, was missing.

There was no warrant for Richards' arrest on any charge. Massachusetts State Police conducted a pickup order for him without explanation.

Instead of the expected million dollars, "more or less," as the search warrant described it, the all-day search yielded $330—thirty-three $10 bills hidden by a board fastened to the cellar ceiling against the plumbing. The bills could not be identified as stolen.

Other finds included a 12-gauge shotgun and a .45 caliber automatic pistol, stamped "U.S. property."

Workmen with pneumatic drills tore up a 20x10-foot concrete patio in the back yard. A power shovel cleared the loose concrete and dug six feet into the fill.

With crowbars, electric drills and saws, 30 federal men—postal inspectors and U.S. marshals—ripped up floor boards, cut holes in walls, tore away shingles and sidings.

Federal officials declined to discuss responsibility for repairs to the house.

Richards, an electrician, was at work Tuesday morning on a construction job at Somerset, Mass., outside Fall River, when postal inspectors left a message telling him to come home. Richards left the job about 9:30 a.m. but did not return home.

Rhodes Says Economy In 'State of Disrepair'

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — The main issue in the 1962 election is "how the present administration has permitted the Ohio economy to fall into a state of disrepair," James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor, said today.

Rhodes said in a speech prepared for delivery here that voters should "look through the curtain of mud with which the present administration now seeks to hide its failures."

Striking at claims that Ohio "lacks brainpower," Rhodes said: "The trouble is, we are exporting our brilliancy of research to other states for practical manufacturing. When we export ideas for end products, we export jobs."

"No wonder we aren't keeping pace with the national average increase in employment. No wonder we have lost nearly 200,000 new job opportunities by failing to keep pace."

He blamed what he called "lack of aggressive gubernatorial direction" for "much of the loss of new jobs which has Ohio's economy at dead center."

Rhodes said his proposed new jobs and industrial development authority would include a research extension service, which he said would fill a void left by "a complete lack of state provided liaison and cooperation between industry and private research facilities."

Rhodes' campaign today took him into Geauga and Lake counties. He spent much of Tuesday in Portage County and wound up with evening rallies in Cleveland's western suburbs of Lakewood and Rocky River.

At the rallies he outlined his

2-Inch Ohio Snow Misses Salem Area

Some residents in parts of Northeast Ohio awoke today to find the ground covered with snow up to two inches thick.

Salem escaped the unseasonal fall, although some snow mixed with rain fell throughout the area last night and early this morning.

The temperature at the Salem disposal plant hit a low of 25 at 6 this morning. A fifth of an inch of precipitation was recorded.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Cleveland Hopkins Airport said the heaviest accumulation of snow was in the Amherst area seven miles west of Lorain in Lorain County.

The snow, which fell earlier while temperatures hovered between 32 and 34 degrees, melted quickly as the mercury started to climb after daybreak, a forecaster said.

Less than two inches of snow were reported in North Royalton and Strongsville in southwestern Cuyahoga County.

The temperature forecast for Northeast Ohio for the next five days predicts the thermometer will hover about 11 degrees below the normal range of 59-42. A slight amount of precipitation will fall.

Gromyko Airs Berlin Demand

Insists Western Troops Quit City

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was reported today to have renewed the Communist demand that Western troops get out of Berlin and called for full recognition of East German sovereignty.

The official East-German news agency ADN said Gromyko made the statements in a speech to a crowd in East Berlin after he toured the wall dividing the city.

Standing on a truck as an improvised platform, Gromyko pledged that the Soviet Union would never allow the "slightest violation of the sovereign rights" of East Germany, ADN said.

Gromyko arrived Tuesday in East Berlin from New York and had talks with the Communist chief of East Germany, Walter Ulbricht, and Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz. The visit was announced as a stopover on his way to Moscow.

There have been fears in the West that the Soviet Union might make some move against West Berlin as retaliation for the quarantine of Cuba.

Soviet tanks, artillery and motorized units were observed on the move outside Berlin during the night, West Berlin police reported.

They said travelers across East Germany saw Soviet units on the autobahn, the highway connecting Berlin with the West, and on the road from Berlin to Hamburg. The largest group was reported around Nauen, a small town about 10 miles west of Berlin.

Western Allied military sources said the troops appeared to be units returning to bases from training exercises.

A fog that hampered Gromyko's look into West Berlin helped seven East Germans flee during the night police reported.

Visibility was poor along the 101 miles of concrete and barbed wire surrounding West Berlin. Police did not disclose any details of the escape into West Berlin.

Berlin Real Problem, Carrigg Tells Rotary

The world today is focusing attention on Cuba but the "real crunch," in international affairs will be in Berlin, Dr. John J. Carrigg of Steubenville told Salem Rotary club members in a luncheon meeting address Tuesday. The fate of this German city will decide the fate of the world," he declared.

While condoning President Kennedy's action on the Soviet arms buildup in Cuba, the history professor who is Republican candidate for Congress in the Ohio 18th district, said the "quarantine" may be too late. "The blockade may halt movement of more offensive arms," Dr. Carrigg said, "but it won't remove the weapons already stockpiled by Castro."

The speaker, who is chairman of the history department at the College of Steubenville, told Rotarians that the dire situation in Cuba is not a political matter. "We are all in the same ship; we have committed ourselves to carrying out a blockade, and we can't back down now," he said.

The speaker disagreed with the argument of some Americans that the President's action against the Latin American nation is unwarranted. "Some people claim there is no need to worry about Cuba since we also have missile bases in foreign countries, such as Turkey, Greece and Germany, all close to Russia. But this equalization theory does not hold water, he said. The exploitation of Cuba formerly in the western orbit of power, as a Soviet base is analogous to an American attempt to set up a missile site in Finland, which is under Soviet influence."

Dr. Carrigg added that the fires of war set by Communists throughout the world, particularly the Indian-Chinese skirmish, may serve the useful purpose of waking up some national leaders such as Nehru and Menon. These men, along with others, have felt that

Rejects Limit on Buildup of Arms

HAVANA (AP) — Asserting he has the weapons to "repulse any aggression," Prime Minister Fidel Castro rejected any limit on Cuba's arms buildup Tuesday night and called the U.S. arms quarantine an act of piracy.

"Our arms are defensive," Castro declared as he defied a U.S. proposal for the United Nations to send in an inspection team to investigate President Kennedy's charge that Soviet missile bases are planted in Cuba.

Anyone trying to carry out an arms inspection in Cuba "had better come ready for combat," the bearded revolutionary leader told the nation in a 90-minute television address.

Castro scoffed at Kennedy's warning in his speech Monday that the flow of Soviet arms to Cuba was a menace to the Western Hemisphere.

He ridiculed the Organization of American States for its solid support of the U.S. quarantine of Cuba. He called the organization's inter-American defense pact a scrap of paper only "valid for those following in the flock of imperialism."

Castro, who had mobilized Cuba's military forces right after Kennedy's blockade announcement, was 30 minutes late for his address.

President Osvaldo Dorticos, dressed in a militiaman's uniform, and other high government officials sat in the studio. An announcer said the prime minister was speaking "at a particularly delicate moment in the history of the world."

Castro emphasized he would tolerate no outside interference on the question of arming Cuba and implied it was the United States that had forced him to arm.

"We will acquire the arms we feel like acquiring," Castro said, "and we don't have to give an accounting to the imperialists. Cuba has the right to arm itself and defend itself and we have had to do so. What would have occurred if we had not been armed at the time of Giron Beach?"

This was a reference to the invasion at the Bay of Pigs by a force of U.S.-backed Cuban exiles in April 1961.

Cuban Rocket Bases Surprise Move

Soviet Buildup Puzzles U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union's installation of nuclear missiles in Cuba caught U.S. experts by surprise and demolished, almost overnight, their carefully constructed estimate of Soviet strategy in the Western Hemisphere.

Until evidence of the introduction of atomic striking power became available to President Kennedy eight days ago, the belief of officials here had been that the Soviet Union intended to use Cuba only as a base for a political and guerrilla offensive against Latin America.

That strategy did not require nuclear weapons in the Caribbean island. It required only that Prime Minister Fidel Castro be armed defensively against any new limited invasion attempt or an internal uprising.

The disclosures which President Kennedy made to the nation Monday night wrecked the theory that the Soviets were supplying arms to Castro only for his own protection. They showed that Cuba was being converted into a Soviet military base with a destructive potential unequalled by any known base on the Communist side of the world conflict except installations in the Soviet Union itself.

In the light of this bold and unexpected thrust into U.S. security territory thousands of miles from the Soviet Union, the Kennedy administration presumably is reassessing Soviet strategy not only toward the Western Hemisphere but also on a global scale.

There are several puzzling aspects to the Soviet action. One is that policy-makers in the Kremlin have known that the presence of missiles in Cuba would be discovered almost at once. When the heavy buildup of arms in Cuba began last July the State Department repeatedly disclosed precise figures on missile bases, ships and fighter planes which were detected in the island.

The Soviet government, furthermore, had given public and private assurances that the buildup was only for Cuban defensive purposes. It had boasted publicly that the Soviet Union did not need to base missiles outside its own territory to reach any target in the world, including the United States.

Some of the best informed officials say privately it is difficult to make sense out of the Soviet behavior on the assumption that Premier Khrushchev still wants to achieve his goals in the world short of nuclear war.

One theory is that the Soviets may have made their Cuban move in connection with some larger strategy of pressure to try to force the Western powers out of West Berlin. Top American officials believe Berlin remains Khrushchev's primary objective and the expectation of a very serious crisis there.

California's Congressional Races Test Political Trend

By BOB BARNES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three bitter races for Congress in one of the nation's largest metropolitan centers promise an intriguing test of current political leanings.

Seldom are voters' choices so sharp as in California's newly revamped 25th, 27th, and 29th congressional districts.

Republican or Democrat? Outspoken conservative or outspoken liberal? More government in Washington or less?

Those issues, clearly defined by the six candidates will provide tests of both the New Frontier and of the John Birch Society, controversial ultraconservative organization.

The contests match three stoutly conservative Republicans—members and defenders of the Birch Society and sharply critical of the Kennedy administration—against Democrats who support the New Frontier and attack what they call Birchism.

A stake are two Republican seats in the U.S. House of Representatives. The third seat is in a new district.

Both sides predict victory. The overwhelmingly Democratic California Legislature drew the districts with Democratic voter registration margins of 60 per cent and up.

Taking to races one by one:

25th District—Once represented in Congress by Richard M. Nixon, the district was re-drawn recently with 153,000 registered voters—98,000 Democrats, 55,000 Republicans. It is in the San Gabriel Valley east of Los Angeles. Republican incumbent John H. Rousselot of Baldwin Park seeks a second term. His opponent is two-term Democratic Assemblyman Ronald Brooks Cameron of Whittier.

Rousselot, 34, says the overriding issue is "survival of our constitutional republic and our capitalistic-free enterprise system as we have known it."

Cameron, 35, an accountant, says Rousselot's Birch membership is a major issue, adds: "The man's not competent to be a congressman."

27th District—A smaller district north of downtown Los Angeles in the San Fernando and Antelope valleys that Republican incumbent Edgar W. Hiestand of Burbank has represented for five terms. The 173,000 registered voters include 104,000 Democrats, 65,000 Republicans, 4,000 unlisted. Opposing Hiestand is Democratic Los Angeles city councilman Everett G. Burkhalter of North Hollywood.

Hiestand, 73, says conservatives are under vicious attack by the leftists and the so-called liberal extremists. Unless the people show they want the present unbelievably harmful and dangerous policies abandoned, those policies will be continued and the consequences are certain to be disastrous.

Burkhalter, 65, goes down the line with the Democratic party position and is pledged to back medical care for the aged. He contends Hiestand "wraps himself in the flag."

29th District—A new, spread-out district, largely in the San Gabriel Valley, with about 90,000 Democrats and 50,000 Republicans. Republican H. L. Richardson, a Temple City advertising consultant, opposes Democratic Assemblyman George E. Brown of Monterey Park.

Richardson, 34, campaigns as a conservative, calls for a firmer endorsement he has.

stand against the Communists and elimination of what he calls "piecemeal surrender."

Brown, 41, was a onetime conscientious objector who wound up as a second lieutenant in the Army in World War II. He pledges to support the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE), whose

PORTRAIT IN BROWNSTONE by Louis Auchincloss. A story about a New York City family from the period when a brownstone house signified wealth and a secure social position. It is primarily the story of Ida, who has little in the way of beauty, but much in the way of patience and worldly intelligence. We meet her first when she is sixty, then go back to 1901 to pick up her childhood. It is a good story, well told.

GABRIELA by Jorge Amad. The girl of the title came to the city from the backlands as the city begins to get wealthy from the sale of cacao. Such was her appearance, her allure, that a wide circle of people were never quite the same again. A best-seller in Brazil and now translated from the Portuguese into twelve languages besides English this has been highly praised by American critics.

MEETING AT THE LAST JUDGMENT by Petru Dumitriu. Although told in the form of a novel, this follows closely the facts of the author's own life. It is the story of a writer who finds life in a Communist-dominated country more and more unbearable and so he finally decided to flee. But the sacrifice he has to make to achieve his freedom will haunt him always.

POWER by Howard Fast. The story of a coal miner who fought his way to the top by becoming a labor leader. Along the way he loses sight of original goal of helping the miners and begins to fight for power for the sake of itself. The story is well told by one of the men who helped to build him and who stuck with him well beyond the point of his own disillusionment. Howard Fast is perhaps the best writer we have in this field.

HORNBLOWER AND THE HOT-SPUR by C. S. Forester. This newly-released segment of the Hornblower epic goes back to the time of the Napoleonic wars and to the time when Hornblower was not yet a captain.

VAGABOND'S WAY by Doris Leslie. The fictional biography of Francois Villon. His actual life was perhaps more strange than any author of fiction could imagine, and its real facts have long since been lost. But Miss Leslie writes of the man and the period with a hand that is practiced and sure.

POLITICAL PARTIES by Seymour H. Harris. A Harvard economist examines the economics of the Republican and Democratic parties. He says in his preface that he has tried to write an objective book, but that he doubts that he has succeeded because the issues are ideological as well as economic, and he adds that his sympathies over the years have been with the Democratic party.

THE DROP-OUTS by Solomon Lichter and omther. The experience and findings of a three-year study of a group of intellectually capable Chicago youngsters who wanted to leave or left high school. The authors discovered were the principal cause of drop-outs. There is much here of interest to anyone who is deeply interested in young people.

STARS, MEN AND ATOMS by Heinz Haber. An extremely interesting but simply written book, this gives a brief account of some past and ties that in with modern discoveries about the atom and the universe. One especially interesting chapter traces the long history of a carbon atom from space which lands on the earth.

101 WAYS TO IMPROVE YOUR KNITTING by Barbara Abbey. The purpose of this little book is to help the knitter avoid the numerous little traps which lie in her path and to make the printed autobiographical of this intelligent Phillis Bentley. A very personal and competent British author.

REFERENCE: BAKER'S BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY OF MUSICIANS, 5th Edition. This edition of Baker's is about a third again as large as the fourth, and is the result of a good basic plan plus a continuing program of revision and addition for some years. The editor, a seasoned sleuth, has uncovered a sizable number of errors in earlier editions and in reference books that parallel the volume. Emphasis has been placed on an abundance of factual data, providing the titles of all major compositions — operas, ballets, symphonies — with exact dates of first performances, and in entries not only on composers of prime importance but also on those of lesser stature.

O DREAMS, O DESTINATIONS by Phillis Bentley. A very personal autobiography of this intelligent and competent British author.

Is There a New Ike?

Republican stalwarts who used to pray for a transformation that would turn Dwight D. Eisenhower into a fire-eating partisan are having their prayers answered. The Eisenhower who is stumping for GOP candidates this fall is everything he was criticized for not being when he stood relatively aloof from party politics in the White House from 1953 to 1961.

Whether or not this is a new Ike or the same old Ike as before in a new background is not easy to determine. It isn't worth the effort. How could anyone hope to distinguish between the Eisenhower who came into partisan politics in 1952 with no record of partisanship and the one who left the White House in 1960 with a robust appetite for party leadership?

The change happened after Sherman Adams left the White House on Oct. 25, 1958. As presidential aide, Mr. Adams had been in full charge of all political matters since the beginning of the first Eisenhower administration in 1953.

Mr. Adams declared when he submitted his resignation in September that year that he had been the victim of a "calculated and contrived effort . . . to destroy me and to embarrass the administration and the President." This was the prevailing view. It was believed at the time that the presidential assistant had been driven out of public life to give Democrats a talking point for the 1958 congressional elections. They had no reluctance to do this because he himself had been a hard-hitting partisan.

He had hit so hard, in fact, that sometimes he hurt dissident Republicans as much as opposing Democrats. After he went home to New Hampshire, President Eisenhower took obvious pleasure in handling the partisan ropes himself. When he left the White House in 1963 he had become the opposite of the image of the bipartisan chief executive that had inspired so many voters "to like Ike."

Now in 1962 he is campaigning like an old political pro at the age of 72. It's as though he were trying to match Harry Truman. A new Ike? Probably just the old Ike with an appetite for partisanship that was repressed so long during his military career it just now is getting an edge on it.

The Whole Thing's "Show Biz"

Our poor State Department has waded into something too deep for it, and this is in the nature of a plank shoved out from shore before the department goes under.

It has been looking into its Cultural Presentations Program—the project that sends U.S. artists overseas to cultivate good will. We have heard often about the artists' triumphs and occasionally about their blunders.

The State Department has been looking into something else—their pay. The House Appropriations Committee first looked into this and drew back in horror. I discovered what always comes as a shock to those who make a living by repetitive toil.

Show business people make hay when the sun shines, and the Cultural Presentations Program has been a hot ray of sunshine for entertainers accustomed to Las Vegas rates. Between $1,000 and $1,500 a week is not out of the ordinary for headliners. No one wants to knock down the going price for "show biz" endeavor. But if our poor State Department wants to get back to terra firma before sinking out of sight in a business that even its own experts don't understand too well, here's a rescue plank:

Switch over to a basis of booking all talent on a between-engagement basis. Refuse to compete with Las Vegas. Tell the boys and girls of show biz who might be interested in doing a turn for their Uncle Sammy that he will take the best offer for the best talent, ask no questions and tell no lies.

Sammy might be astonished at the bargains he could pick up if he let talent name its own terms, with the understanding that no reasonable offers for presentations belonging in his Cultural Presentations Program would be turned down.

Everybody Has a Good Idea

We liked the story about the English mother of four who used her good looks to make truck drivers stop, then sweetly asked them to drive carefully instead of accepting their invitations to go riding.

We like the story from California about plywood "patrol cars" that make motorists stay inside speed limits when they are spotted in their hiding places just off the main highway.

We even like "Radar Zone" signs advertising nonexistent radar zones.

We like all stories about the never-ending drive to curb the reckless operation of autos.

Shop At Home

Recent complaints of residents over the annoyance of door-to-door salesmen and Columbiana village's action in arresting a modern-day huckster, bring us to this conclusion once again:

It's better to patronize your local merchant.

Whereas a slick salesman is gone but not forgotten, established local businessmen can offer both reasonably-priced goods and a guarantee.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I read the article you referred to and agree it would be fine if we could find more people to work in domestic service.

I remembered what used to happen around this part of the country but is rarely seen now—the boy and girl who worked for other families because their family needed the extra income.

These same boys and girls, if they work for wages at all today, would expect to work at something fancier than the menial jobs they used to do. But the menial jobs still need to be done.

Think of the potential energy and skill in people who are unemployed that is being wasted because they cannot go into domestic service. Not only would it lower their status, as they think of it, but on the pay they could get they couldn't make ends meet anyway.

Wasn't it you who said when job shrinkage began in the steel industry that this country was going to have some of the highest-priced jobless men ever seen?

Only in fiction do people go into domestic service who don't have to be there. But only in reality would people rather live on public subsistence than take a job as a household servant.

You wonder what difference it might make if enough of us were wealthy enough to pay what it would be worth to have someone to take care of household chores. Think what it would mean in caring for the aged if steady, reliable people could be found to take that responsibility in homes, instead of in hospitals and nursing homes.

Imagine how many householers would jump at a chance to hire a handyman, if they could afford one. Or how many overworked mothers could use help with the housework while their children are young.

People in moderate circumstances used to have this kind of help. They could afford it then. There was room inside their incomes to pay people to help out with what were thought of as the necessities—washing, ironing, cooking.

I could be wrong about this—after all, we never attained moderate circumstances until recent times. But it's my impression the people who worked at these tasks were held in high esteem. They worked "out," but there was no opprobrium to it.

Take your aunt and me. We could use a handyman. I would say a housekeeper, except two women under the same roof represent more trouble than I want to tackle.

But a handyman could do all kinds of things. Handyman? What we need is a man of all work—someone to wash windows, carry boxes, keep the place neat, wash the car, shovel snow, do the chores when we're away or get sick, wash woodwork, make minor repairs and so on and so on.

We couldn't pay much, but we might come to an understanding that would assign value to things in lieu of cash—congeniality, good food, good working conditions. I can name a half dozen aging couples in this part of the country who potentially are in the market for this kind of help.

One thing's certain. Not everybody can operate an electronic brain. Thousands of people with no skill and no aptitude for acquiring skill need work. Isn't it possible some of them would do very well for themselves if they could go into domestic service?

Thanks for accepting the Thanksgiving invitation. The turkey will be ready; I acquired him today and he will live like a king until the night before the fateful day. I'm looking forward to his sojourn. He will be someone different for me to talk to when I go to the barn. Regards to all.

Many People Feel U.S. Stand on Cuba Overdue

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The climax had to come sooner or later—and many people have felt for some time that decisive action with reference to the Communist build-up of missile bases in Cuba was long overdue.

President Kennedy had sensed recently what appeared to be the sentiment throughout the country that a military base 90 miles away from the United States is intolerable—whether it be called a violation of the Monroe Doctrine or a direct threat to the security of the United States itself.

For several months, the American government has known that missile bases were being built and equipped in Cuba but, up to now, the officially announced assumption has been that all this was "defensive" on Cuba's part.

There is, however, little difference actually between a missile base built for defense and on built for offensive purposes.

For reasons best known to the President, it was heretofore deemed unwise, however, to characterize the missile bases as "offensive." But when word of recent shipments from the Soviet Union—including light bombers—was received from authoritative sources by the United States government, there no longer was any reason to hesitate to call the missile bases in Cuba by their right name.

EVEN BEFORE the President announced his intention of speaking to the nation, Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-NY, referred to the report he had publicized recently concerning the construction of six intermediate-range missile bases in Cuba. He had declared that the missile bases would have a 2,000 to 2,500-mile range. He said missiles from these bases could strike at the heart of the United States and at the Panama Canal. Not far away from Cuba also is the all-important base at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Under the circumstances, the President required only the information that the Cubans were unquestionably engaged with Soviet experts in building an offensive base with nuclear warheads before he told the world that such an operation must be abolished and that hereafter Cuba will be "quarantined" and, in effect, blocked.

The timing of the President's conferences and his decision to summon the leaders of both political parties in Congress were something of a surprise even in Washington, because Mr. Kennedy was himself engaged in a campaign trip. Naturally, there is speculation as to whether the dramatic way the whole thing was handled will have some relationship to the current congressional campaign. But any such relationship, it will be asserted in administration circles, is purely "coincidental."

THE CRISIS is a serious one and both parties always tend to work together in an emergency atmosphere. It so happens that the Republicans have been making an issue out of the procrastination of the White House and the State Department in the whole Cuban affair, as the people of the country have shown they were more perturbed about it all than Mr. Kennedy had realized. So bipartisan agreement now may be expected on any steps that become necessary.

The first stage involves of course, the customary warning so that not only Cuba but the Soviet Union may know that the United States means business. Unless the missile bases are dismantled, the people of this country will continue to feel uneasy and may demand that there be some form of military occupation.

The big question in the background has been: What will the Soviet Union do if the United States gets tough with Cuba? The administration could not afford to sit on its hands while pondering possible answers to that question.

It became clear that the Washington government would have to take the initiative and incur whatever risks might be necessary.

For, in international law, it has always been recognized that military security is paramount. A demand that foreign forces be withdrawn from the island might well be considered only a first step, with invasion and occupation as a natural sequel if no satisfaction is obtained.

Will the Soviets ever risk a worldwide conflagration just to help out Castro? The experts think not. In fact, without well-corroborated information on this point, President Kennedy doubtless wouldn't have risked making the public statement he has now broadcast to the world.

MR. KENNEDY always has insisted that Cuba and Berlin are closely related and that both situations must be taken into account as likely to be connected in the minds of the men in the Kremlin.

The Soviet Union, of course, is plenty worried today about internal problems and about the aggressive behavior of the Red Chinese, who have invaded India. The last thing Moscow wants at this time is a world war, especially since any likelihood of this would produce a restiveness in the Communist bloc and a major crisis for the Soviet Union.

All in all, President Kennedy evidently felt that the risk of dealing firmly with Cuba was worth taking—irrespective of Berlin and developments in other parts of the world.

Matter of Fact

When three golden balls hang above a shop door, it is a sure sign that the shopkeeper will give you money for any item you have to sell. The three golden balls are the traditional pawnbroker's sign. This symbol has been kept through the centuries. It first marked the establishment of a Lombard merchant who was a pawnbroker in England.

An Icy Swim To Freedom

By DON COOK

Herald Tribune News Service

BERLIN—Across the icy waters of a canal separating East from West Berlin, 10 young people swam to freedom during the week and in the biggest mass escape since "Tunnel 20" one month ago. How was the escape brought off?

Like most of the successful operations, which continue to bring an average of about 20 persons a week out of East Berlin, this was a carefully planned, carefully executed affair of bravery, discipline and daring—and evidently brought off with some help from the West.

There were reports, which police declined to confirm, that two East Germans who came out by this same escape route last week went back across to lead the escape of their friends Sunday night.

TRUE OR NOT, it certainly is a fact that most of the escapes into West Berlin now are being assisted or organized from this side. Because lives are at stake and disclosures can ruin the chances of a repeat operation, or tip the East police as to tricks and methods, details are not very welcome in print. But there is a basic pattern to the operation, with varying details in each case.

From the West, a possible escape route is spotted or planned. It may be a tunnel. It may be some point along the wall which, carefully observed from the West,

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO—Mickey McGuire, Knobby Greene, James Gregg, Bill Blount and William A. Paxson, members of the Elk lodge, will be hosts at a teen-age dance in the Elks home after the Salem—Canton-Lincoln football game tonight.

25 YEARS AGO—More than 100 delegates from the northeast and middlewest districts of the Ohio Federation of Junior Music Clubs attended a conference in the assembly room of the public library Saturday. Mrs. L. D. Cesna presided.

35 YEARS AGO—Boys who toss aged eggs or tomatoes to porches and doors will have to get down on their knees and use the scrub brush to take off the stains if police catch any of the pre-Halloween celebrators, Mayor George E. Russell warned today.

can be approached for a quick climb to freedom. Or may be some deserted or lightly patrolled area of the barbed wire.

Couriers from West Berlin—usually foreign students or young West Germans who, unlike West Berliners, can get passes to cross The Wall—then enter East Berlin and contact the person who is to make the escape. Together they may survey the route from the other side and work out minute-by-minute details. Since there is a security zone along The Wall on the Eastern side, it is easier to spot escape opportunities from the West. East Berliners cannot get close enough to plan details.

AN ESCAPE MAY involve some diversionary action by West Berlin friends to pull the border guards away from the point where the attempted crossing is to take place. It might be a ladder thrown up against the West side of The Wall at a precise moment, or a rope thrown over The Wall at an exact point. And, of course, there are tunnel operations.

These are the sort of details of escapes which never are announced when the escapees get through. A bare police report that a man "got over The Wall" may conceal endless planning and preparation from the East.

Playing into the hands of the longer nights, the early morning fogs, and cold weather which cuts down on the effectiveness of patrols in East Berlin. There are now 12 hours of darkness in Berlin which gives a great deal of time for a very careful approach to the barbed wire on The Wall.

ON THE LATEST escape, the 10 persons assembled late on a recent Saturday night at a house in East Berlin within walking distance of their chosen crossing point. They then made their way singly or in pairs, through the empty streets, alert for police patrols.

At the border strip, which they must have studied carefully in advance, all 10 worked their way under three separate rows of barbed wire, then crossed concrete barriers and arrived at the edge of one of the many canals along the Berlin boundaries.

Then they slipped into the water and swam quietly to the West bank. They were never heard or spotted by the East guards. Whether they were met on the West bank or received help was not disclosed. The only unhappy aftermath is that with the water temperature in the 40s all 10 had to be hospitalized.

The escape took place Sunday night, and police withheld the news until Monday evidently to determine whether the East border guards appeared to have spotted the crossing point or discovered the departure of the group.

There was no sign that they had.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm positive my next-door neighbor is killing my shrubs which grow along the fence dividing our property.

Our yard is much prettier than hers and she is jealous. I've heard her make derogatory remarks about "grass goofs" who spend a lot of time babying their lawns.

A few days ago I had the nurseryman out to find out why the shrubs by the fence keep dying. He told me they are being sprayed with some sort of chemical. This neighbor works part time at a chemical plant and would have easy access to materials which the average person could not obtain.

How can I make her stop this terrible practice without coming right out and accusing her? —NEIGHBOR TROUBLES.

Dear Neighbor: Since the nurseryman seems to have substantiated your suspicions, I suggest you present the facts.

Don't accuse her outright. Simply explain that the nurseryman told you the shrubs are dying because of a chemical spray. Ask her to please be more careful with "that stuff" she is using. She'll get the picture.

Hungry Husband

Dear Ann: Maybe I am being overly sensitive about something that shouldn't matter, but it drives me crazy.

I'm a good cook and I go out of my way to have nice meals for my husband. He is not underfed or underweight either. In fact he could lose 20 pounds and it wouldn't hurt him a bit.

Whenever we go over to his mother's house (which is about three nights a week) he says, "Hello, Ma"—and heads straight for her refrigerator. It can be 10 minutes after he has finished a big meal at home but he acts as if he is starving.

His mother gives me a look that says, "Why don't you feed my son? He's always hungry."

It burns me up. Why does he do this and what can I do about it? —PEARL.

Dear Pearl: He does this because it's a childhood habit. You know how some kids are—the minute they come from school they head for the refrigerator. They may have had a popsicle, two candy bars and an ice cream cone on the way home, yet they have to check to see what else there is to eat. Your husband never outgrew the habit and he probably never will. So give up.

Teen-Age Mistake

Dear Ann: Five years ago our daughter, who was then 17, ran off and got married the day after high school graduation. She was an honor student and passed up a four-year scholarship to marry an 18-year-old kid who worked in a filling station.

You are a mother, too, Ann, so I don't have to tell you what a heartbreak this was for us.

Now, five years later, she has two children and a husband who drinks on the job and sometimes doesn't get home at night. We knew after the first six months her marriage wouldn't work.

Last night she came over and told her father and me she is through with him. She wants to come home with the two children and go to work full time. This means I would have to give up my church work and social life to take care of her youngsters.

Frankly, I don't have the patience or the strength to start raising her family. My husband says she made her bed and now we should let her lie in it. I hate to turn my back on her when she needs me. Please advise.—TORN.

Dear Torn: Meet your daughter half way. Let her come home with the understanding that she must hire help to take care of her children if she prefers to go to work.

In my opinion she would be getting more of a break than she's entitled to.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SKILLET SQUASH

1 pound (4 medium) zucchini squash, 4 small white onions, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 cup diced seeded skinned tomatoes, tablespoons water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 to 1/4 teaspoon medium coarse black pepper, seasoned salt to taste.

Scrub squash in cold water; cut off ends but do not pare; cut into thin crosswise slices. Peel onions; slice thin; separate into rings.

Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet; lightly brown onion in butter. Add squash, tomatoes, water, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer just until squash is tender-crisp—about 5 minutes. Add seasoned salt. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Mrs. Frank E. Rickert

Hary-Rickert Nuptials Held In Christian Church

Rev. Harold W. Deitch officiated at the exchange of vows Saturday at 4 p.m., uniting in marriage Miss Gloria Jean Hary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael B. Hary of 485 Aetna St., and Frank E. Rickert, son of Mrs. Eileen Flourenini of Sebring, in the sanctuary of the First Christian Church.

Twin vases of large white chrysanthemums and carnations before a bank of greenery decorated the altar which was lighted by cathedral candles in seven-branch candelabra. The ends of family pews were marked with white aisle bows. Mrs. Janet Davis was soloist, and the traditional nuptial music was played by Mrs. Ruth Berry.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace and Bombazine silk. A sabrina neckline highlighted the long-sleeved fitted bodice which was embroidered with pearls. The lace edged full pick-up skirt of silk was accented by appliques of lace and swept to the back in a brush train. Her veil was tire with corsages of pompons and carnations.

Touces of azalea pink trimmed the white four-tiered wedding cake topped with tiny bridal figurines which centered the bride's table at the reception in the CIO Hall following the ceremony. Miss Sandra Tracy registered the 200 guests who greeted the couple, and Miss Marsha Elrod presided at the punch bowl.

For her honeymoon to Niagara Falls the bride wore a sheath dress of cocoa plaid with tan accessories.

A graduate of Salem Senior High School, the bride was formerly employed by the G. C. Murphy Company.

Mr. Rickert is in the armed forces, having recently returned from a tour of duty in Korea, and is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky. where the couple will make their home.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: Don't use your dish drainer for glassware and flat silver. . .

After I wash and rinse them, I place all of my classes and flat silver—turned upside down—on a turkish towel which I have laid out on my drainboard.

I find that this does not leave any water marks, spots, etc.

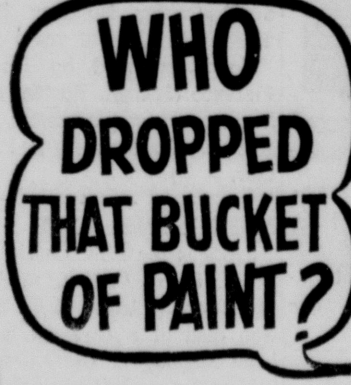

on either the glasses or the silverware. All that is necessary is to wipe the blades of the knives, but nothing else.

This is far better than drying glasses and silver in my dish drainer as one usually ends up by putting pots and pans on top of them. It saves breakage too. After the glasses and silver are dry, and I put them away, I just hang the towel on the rack again. It is not dirty as it has been used for only clean dishes.

GAS heat filters the air, so your home stays cleaner longer

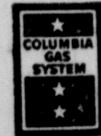

Practically all new homes built today are Gas heated, because Gas heat is clean heat. Most of the dirt in your home is brought in—on shoes, on clothes, through the air which enters when doors are opened. A forced air Gas heating system helps get rid of dirt—by circulating the warm air through filters several times every hour.

There is no dirt from Gas heat. That's why your walls, draperies and furniture stay clean longer than with unfiltered heating systems.

If your home is heated with modern, automatic Gas equipment, you have the best heating system you can buy! And, when you buy or build a new home, make sure it has modern Gas heat.

What's more, it's easy to convert your forced air Gas heating system to summer comfort cooling—just add on a Gas Air Conditioning unit to your present Gas heating system. Enjoy year-round, "whole-house comfort" with GAS!

Chairmen and solicitors will receive campaign kits at the fund drive dinner at 6:30 p.m., Monday at the Wick Hotel, Lisbon.

If the county raises $20,000 it will be matched two-to-one by the State Department of Mental Health and Hygiene, giving the county $60,000 to set up the clinic, according to Judge Louis Tobin, drive chairman.

To receive state money, the clinic must be staffed by a certified psychiatrist, certified psychologist, social worker and at least one secretary.

Shortly after issuing these orders, McNamara announced he had extended the enlistments and duty tours of all Navy and Marine officers and enlisted men for up to 12 months. This is intended to provide the necessary manpower for the blockade and reinforcement of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba.

The freeze will give the Navy an increase of about 10,000 men a month and the Marines 2,400 men a month. The only exemptions will be granted to men pleading unusual hardship.

East Palestine School Named For Elma Sutherin

EAST PALESTINE — The newly-completed 10-room elementary school building on W. Grant St., part of a $650,000 school enlargement program, has been named the Elma Sutherin Elementary School.

Mrs. Elma Smith Sutherin had been associated with the East Palestine School system from 1894 until 1946 and will be remembered as principal of the Junior High School.

A graduate of Mount Union College in 1890, she assumed her first teaching position at Pleasant Valley rural school and a couple of years later married James Sutherin. Following his death in 1894, she came to East Palestine to teach, retired in 1946 following 52 years service and died two days later. Her son, Francis J. Sutherin, resides in Bedford.

The new school, although completed, is unoccupied due to lack of furnishings. Plans to install desks, chalkboards and other equipment hinges on passage of the 5-mill levy to be voted on at the Nov. 6 election.

Dr. William A. Kolozsi, Columbiana county coroner, ruled "accidental death" today in the collapse of Robert L. Davis, 54, Deming Company advertising manager, at his home, 687 Highland Ave., Saturday afternoon.

The coroner said an autopsy showed that Mr. Davis suffered a blood clot when he tripped and fell earlier in the day while playing golf at the Salem Golf Club. ## Castro

Castro spurned the U.S. plan before the U.N. Security Council to send U.N. observers to see that Cuba complies with Kennedy's demand that Soviet offensive weapons be dismantled and removed.

"We reject all types of investigations, no matter where they come from," Castro said. "Cuba is not the Congo. We will not disarm."

Castro said the Cuban people were not worried by Kennedy's warnings.

However, there was a rush on food shops by housewives apparently fearful of new shortages. There was a brisk sale of candies, useful in blackouts and power failures.

Cubans in the streets seemed more quiet than usual. They watched as more troops and weapons appeared in Havana. Soldiers barricaded the avenue next to the Armed Forces Ministry.

crossed what India considers to be her northeastern border with Tibet in the area just east of Bhutan.

Some officials believed the Chinese proposal was made under pressure from Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who wrote Nehru last weekend he hoped the border dispute would be settled through peaceful negotiations. Nehru reportedly replied Monday night that India refuses to negotiate with Peiping under duress and that "no negotiation is possible or feasible so long as an aggressor occupies our sacred soil."

The Indian government has insisted that the Chinese withdraw not only in the northeast but also pull out of positions they hold in the Ladakh area 900 miles to the northwest. China has refused to withdraw in the Ladakh area where they have built a road connecting Tibet and the western Chinese province of Sinkiang.

The Chinese said the unfortunate fighting was the result of a question left over by history. The statement said the 48-year-old McMahon Line, which India claims as its border with Chinese-occupied Tibet, is a creation that "British imperialists attempted to force upon China by taking advantage of the powerlessness of the Chinese and Indian peoples."

British diplomat Arthur H. McMahon established the line in negotiations with Tibet in 1914, when India was under British rule. The Chinese government, the statement said, "has always stood for a peaceful settlement of the Chinese-Indian boundary question through negotiations and held that pending a peaceful settlement, the extent of actual control by each side should be respected and neither side should alter the state of the boundary by unilateral action."

Reports from the northeast fighting said Chinese troops were driving for the important monastery town of Towang, about 17 air-line miles inside the western end of the McMahon Line.

Halloween Parade Set In Hanoverton

HANOVERTON — Mayor Howard Hart has announced that the annual Halloween parade will be held October 31 at 7 p.m.

Led by several fire trucks, the procession of costumed paraders will begin at the town park on the square, travel west on Route 30 then turn north to the new playground. Prizes will be awarded to the best masqueraders in several categories, according to co-chairmen Joe Wilson, representing the fire department, and Arthur Kibler of the American Legion. Refreshments will be served.

Trick-or-treat nights will be observed Oct. 29, 30 and 31, the mayor said. Children making the rounds of houses before Monday will be sent home.

Control of Halloween activities is deemed necessary by the village administration in light of vandalism that has already begun and complaints from homeowners pestered by "beggars" night after night.

Constable Roy Painter has already apprehended several junior and senior high school youths who have been throwing apples at passing motorists and soaping windows. They were taken home and given strict warning to halt such pranks. Violators caught next week will be dealt with severely, Painter warned.

FALL HAIRCUT

There are no short cuts when it comes to your new haircut. A good professional cutting is the basis for your change of hairdo. At present fashion demands a new styling and last year's hold-over just won't do anything for you. One of the newer hair fashions can be adapted to suit you individually. Remember it will take expert shaping and cutting to create the desired effect.

Since your new hairdo depends largely upon the shaping and cutting, we suggest that you let the expert do it for you.

PLATT & SCRUGGS, too, are bluegrass musicians with LESTER PLATT singing and EARL SCRUGGS accompanying him with an unbelievable virtuosity on the banjo. These two stars with their Foggy Mountain Boys, will appear in the second annual "Country and Western Music Festival" with stars from "Grand Ole Opry" under the auspices of NAZIR GROTTO at the CANTON MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM on SATURDAY, NOV. 3rd, at 2:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Instrumentally, this music is a direct outgrowth of the traditional music styles of the southern mountain region, its two most distinctive characteristics being the use of nonamplified instruments and the employment of the 5-string banjo as a lead for a background in all songs. But beyond this, the term refers to a specific manner of playing the 5-stringer, a slick, flowing, super-charged 3-finger technique pioneered by SCRUGGS. It's most exciting and emotional—bluegrass music has been described as another kind of soul music, a description that hits the nail on the head.

This is earthy, spontaneous, uncomplicated music recorded in the U. S. folk-music tradition and played with driving intensity and fervor. LESTER PLATT, EARL SCRUGGS, and THE FOGGY MOUNTAIN BOYS are just a small part of the big "Country Music Festival." Other recording stars on the big show are BILL ANDERSON, HAWKSHAW HAWKINS, MAC WISEMAN, CARL BELEW, THE LOUVIN BROTHERS and DOLORES SMILEY. The Admission price is $1.50 for Adults, Children 90c, Reserved Seats only 50c extra.

District Grid Squads Involved In 16 Weekend Tilts

Lisbon Clashes With Leetonia

Beavers, Warriors To Battle Saturday

By LYNN BROWNE

Columbiana's clash with the Leopards of Louisville Friday night in a battle for the Tri-County League crown will, beyond a doubt, be the most important of the 16 tilts involving area squads on tap for the weekend.

Although the winner of the game could still fail to cop the title, it would have to lose its last two encounters of the season to do it—and that's not likely to happen to either of the two powerhouses.

Louisville and Columbiana each enter the fray with 4-0 loop marks and both are undefeated in season action also.

Louisville has made seven appearances, the last of which was a 54-8 rout of the Lisbon Blue Devils who suffered their worst beating since Coach Bud Bucher took over the reins 17 years ago.

The Clippers, who will host the Leopards, have made six appearances and maintained their unblemished record last week by nipping the upset minded Sebring Trojans 15-14.

Three other contests are slated for Friday in the Tri-County League. Bucher's county-seat crew will play host to the Leetonia Bears, under the tutelage of Coach Ike Farrar; Sebring will be at Minerva; and Poland will be at East Palestine.

Lisbon will pit a 3-2 league mark and a 5-2 overall record against the Bears' 2-3, 3-4 record and could find itself with its hands full.

Despite their record the Bears are a rather impressive club. They scored a 27-20 upset over East Palestine, trimmed Minerva 12-6 and then handed the Columbiana aggregation all the football it could handle for three periods before bowing 40-22 two weeks ago. Last week the Bears were nipped 8-6 by Poland.

Lisbon had suffered just one loss (14-8 to Minerva) before it was embarrassed by the Stark County powerhouse last week, and will be hoping to bounce back in the win column.

The only other league play in the area will be in the Inter-County league where the Lowellville Rockets are almost assured of repeating as loop kings.

North Lima and McDonald will battle Friday at the latter's field Crestview and Western Reserve are slated for action Saturday at Sebring.

Wellsville will be in action Thursday when it is on the road at Jefferson Union.

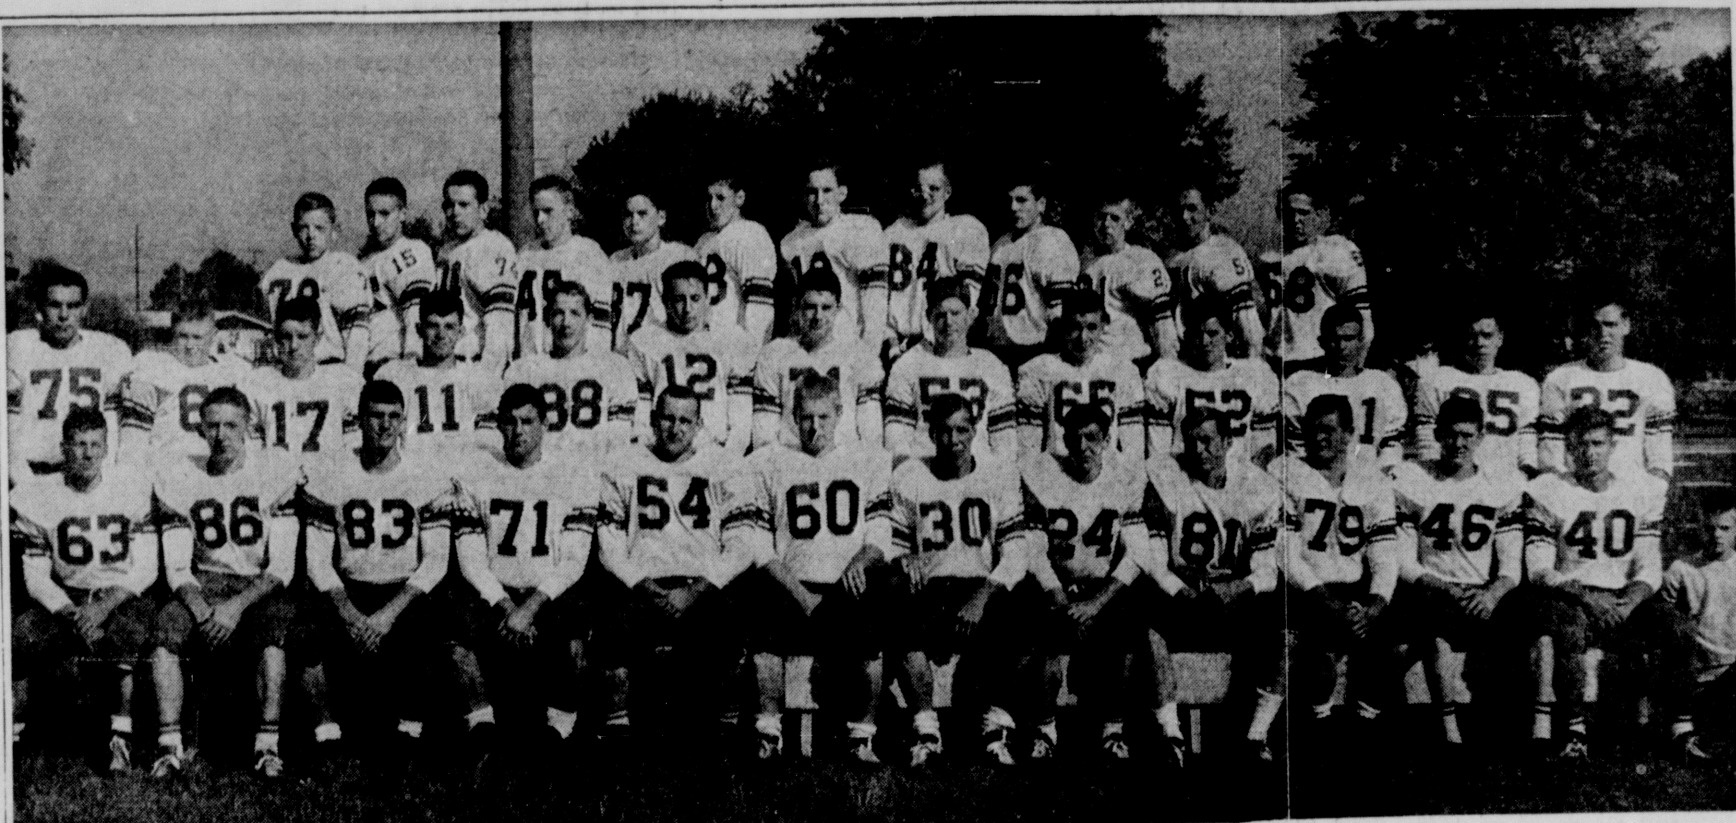

In non-loop action Friday, the Salem Quakers will be at Boardman; Canfield will be at Austintown Fitch; and East Liverpool will be on the road at Bellaire St. John's.

Action Saturday will see Beaver Local and West Branch clash at Salem; Mineral Ridge and Pymatuning Valley meet at McDonald; Warren St. Mary's at Ashtabula St. John's Greenford playing host to Atwater; United Local on the road at Salineville; and Jackson-Milton will be entertaining Lowellville.

Springfield Local is not scheduled for action this week.

UNBEATEN CLIPPERS SEEK SEVENTH — The undefeated Columbiana High School football team will seek its seventh straight victory against Louisville, which has won seven in a row, in a Tri-County League clash at Firestone Park Stadium, Columbiana, Friday at night 8.

Leadership In Tri-County At Stake

Unbeaten Columbiana Tests Louisville

Unbeaten Columbiana faces its toughest test of the season when the Clippers entertain powerful Louisville at Firestone Park Stadium Friday night at 8.

At stake will be leadership in Tri-County League—Both schools are (4-0)—and a possible high spot in the AP ratings. The Leopards were 14th in this week's survey and Columbiana was 18th.

Columbiana will outweigh Louisville 20 pounds to the man on the line. The Clippers also have a slight weight advantage in the backfield.

The Clippers squeaked by Sebring 15-14 last Friday, while the Leopards rolled over Lisbon 54-8. Columbiana fumbled nine times during the contest with the Trojans.

George Fisher, who guides the Clippers, plans no radical changes for Louisville. "We are working on ball handling and defense this week, and plan to polish up our offense some," the Columbiana mentor declared.

FISHER AND LOUISVILLE Coach Hap Lillick don't think they'll have any trouble getting their respective teams up for the contest.

Coach Lillick said, "They will probably be the toughest team we will meet all season."

The Leopard's coach had a great deal of praise for Columbiana's Jeff Lindsay who plays right halfback "He is probably their best back, although Murphy and Ward are also tough," he declared.

Fullback Dale Murphy is the number two scorer in the county with 59 points. The 192-pound senior is playing his fourth year of varsity competition.

The Clippers will have to contain Louisville's one-two punch, tailback Bob Bardash and sophomore fullbacks Bob Gladioux.

BARDASH HAS TALLIED 12 touchdowns, and 15 of 16 extra point conversion runs for 102 points. He is also his squads' leading ground gainer with 716 yards rushing.

Gladioux, who plays left safety on defense, has collected 59 points. He does all the punting, kicks off and has made five of seven placekicks for extra points.

Coach Lillick said, "Anything we have done this season has been through a team effort."

He felt that the most valuable player on the squad was team captain Ron Burgess, who is a three-year letterman. Burgess, a 170-pound senior has been outstanding offensively and defensively all season. Lillick pointed out that his star lineman was an easy boy to coach.

Northwestern Chosen To Beat Notre Dame

OSU Picked Over Badgers; Scribe Also Favors Bama

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Reverting to the blindfold and lucky stab method of picking college football winners after missing on 13 of 56 games last week. That's an average of .786 and pulled the season's totals down to 197-72 for .791.

Ohio State over Wisconsin: Wisconsin has a great passing attack but Ohio State has Paul Warfield, a great defender against passes. The Badgers haven't won at Columbus since grandpa watched in 1918.

Texas over Rice: The Longhorns haven't lost and the Owls haven't won this season.

Alabama over Tulsa: Joe Namath must be one of the best collegiate passers in the country today.

Northwestern over Notre Dame: Notre Dame is powerful, strong and slow. Northwestern is powerful, strong and fast.

Southern California over Illinois: The Illini have taken their lumps all season but nothing to those they will get trying to stop Trojan fullback Ben Wilson.

Louisiana State over Florida: The Louisiana Tigers have Jerry Stovall.

Washington over Oregon: But the Huskies will be too busy to think about next weekend's encounter with Southern California which decides the coast title and the Rose Bowl designation.

Arkansas over Hardin Simmons: The Texans have won but once in three years.

Michigan State over Indiana: Saimes, Lewis and Rubick give the Michigan State Spartans a real triple threat over the benchmark Hoosiers.

Mississippi over Vanderbilt: They are playing this one in Memphis to spare the feelings of the Commodore followers.

Auburn over Clemson: The sophomore Auburn team came of age in last week's triumph over Georgia Tech.

Penn State over California: California switched to the wing T this year but continues to fly in the wrong direction.

Northwestern Leads In Passing

Wisconsin Is Nation's Top Scoring Team, Average 39.5

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What was that they were saying before the season about the soft schedule Ohio State's football team had this year?

The latest NCAA major college statistics show that this Saturday's Buckeye foe, Wisconsin, leads the nation in scoring with 39.5 points a game and is fourth in total offense with 399.8 yards per game.

Northwestern, which beat Ohio State last week, is No. 1 in the nation in passing offense with 230.3 yards a game and third in total offense with 402.3 yards each outing.

Oregon, Ohio State's Nov. 17 foe, leads all major schools in total offense with 429.0 yards a game and is fourth in rushing with a 292.4 average.

The Buckeyes themselves don't stand too badly in the statistics circuit despite their 2-2 won-lost record. They're 10th in total offense with 374.8 yards a game and eighth in scoring with a 28.3 average, thanks to their 314.3-yard rushing average which is second only to Michigan State's 362.8.

Browns Test Pittsburgh's Veteran Line

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns offense, which appeared to have jelled in the St. Louis game, will face a stern test against the Pittsburgh Steelers' rugged defensive line Sunday.

That line includes four stalwarts with a combined total of 35 years of pro football experience who rate among the best in the business. They are Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, Ernie Stautner, Joe Krupa and Lou Michaels.

And if you believe John Henry Johnson, the Steelers' veteran fullback, the Pittsburgh offensive line is just as formidable.

"I should keep gaining 100 yards a game as long as that line keeps blocking like it has been," Johnson says. He now stands third in the league in rushing with 494 yards.

Flanker Back Has Caught 11 TD Aerials

Cowboys' Clarke Nears Pass Mark

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Hutson, Elroy Hirsch, Frank Clarke—Frank who???

Frank Clarke is the name. It may not ring a bell in your home town but it is a big name in Dallas. If the Cowboys' flanker back keeps on catching passes it will be a big name coast-to-coast.

In six games Clarke has caught 11 touchdowns. He still has eight games to go. Hutson set the National Football League record of 17 for Green Bay in 1942. Hirsch tied it for Los Angeles in 1951 on a 12-game schedule.

Clarke is another one of the men who got away from Paul Brown at Cleveland, like Bobby Mitchell. Placed on the draft list after three luckless years with the Browns, the former Colorado star wound up in Dallas when the league expanded in 1960.

Clarke is the leading scorer in the NFL with 66 points, passing idle Paul Hornung of Green Bay. In three years with the Browns he caught a total of 10 passes and didn't score a point.

"I wasn't happy to leave Cleveland," said Clarke in Dallas. "I felt I had left a great deal unfinished. But the more I thought I realized that Dallas was the ideal situation where I would have more of a chance."

"Eddie (LeBaron) worked with me and taught me tricks. So did Tom Landry, our coach. Now I go in there thinking I can catch them all."

The Cowboys own a 3-2-1 record and are making serious gestures toward the title in the Eastern Conference.

Big 10 Boss Reed Blasts Woody Hayes

CHICAGO (AP)—Commissioner Bill Reed went to bat for Big Ten football officials Tuesday and chastized Ohio State coach Woody Hayes at the same time.

Reed demanded and is getting a written apology from Hayes for making public statements in which the Buckeye coach criticized officiating in Ohio State's 18-14 loss to Northwestern Saturday.

Hayes showed films of the game on a television program in Columbus Sunday and three times repeated one phase of the film in which he contended an official had made an error in calling pass interference.

Hayes later was quoted as saying, "We were cheated out of a touchdown. We didn't get quite a fair shake from the officials."

"I consider all this very distressing," said Reed. "We always back up officials' judgement. They must make split second decisions and we consider such public statements as Hayes' as undermining this effort."

In Columbus, Ohio, Hayes said he had complied with Reed's demand for an apology.

"What the commissioner wants," Hayes said, "he gets."

Flag Football Slates Finals At Stadium

The McKinley Rockets, Prospect Pirates and McKinley Red Devils will risk 3-0 records in the final round of the Flag Football League program at Reilly Stadium Thursday at 7 p.m.

All 10 teams will see loop action. One of the most interesting clashes may be the Fourth Street Bombers 2-1 — McKinley Red Devils contest.

Other games scheduled include Buckeye Bears in a battle against McKinley Rockets, Reilly Jets take on St. Paul Packers, Reilly Bulldogs meet St. Paul Eagles, and Prospect Pirates face the Fourth Street Falcons.

Salem High School physical education teacher Bob Miller once again led the program to another highly successful campaign. The first three games played by each squad were at the athletic field next to Senior High School.

Dick Tiger Whips Fullmer For Title

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer.
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The long reign of Gene Fullmer as king of the World Boxing Association middleweight division was over today, terminated by a mauler and brawler much in the same mold as the Utah strong boy.
The new ruler is Dick Tiger of Nigeria, the British Empire champion of the 160-pounders, who won the title by unanimous decision Tuesday night in 15 rough, bruising rounds before a crowd of 11,600 in Candlestick Park.
There was blood, as is usual with a Fullmer fight, but no knockdowns. There was drama, as a host of Tiger's countrymen, resplendent in the flowing robes of their native land, swarmed into the ring and hoisted their idol to their shoulders.
Fullmer, unbeaten in 17 straight ring engagements, met defeat in the eighth defense of the crown he had won in his same city by a 14-round knockout over Carmen Basilio Aug. 28, 1959.
Fullmer fought the last 4½ rounds in a familiar Fullmer pattern. He was cut and bleeding from gashes over both eyes, but he was still flailing away with both fists at the final bell.
Fullmer will meet the 33-year-old Nigerian again Jan. 19 in either Bozeman, Mont., or Las Vegas, Nev.

Does he think he can whip Tiger in the rematch?
"If I feel like I can't, there won't be one," said Fullmer. "Right now I don't feel I can't. 'Now I'm the champion I think I'll stay the champion,' was the response from Tiger.
A modest fellow, Tiger had praise for Fullmer. "After three or four rounds I knew I was tangling with the champion."
There was a disagreement in another area. Fullmer said he was accidentally butted in the ninth round. It slashed open a small cut inflicted in the second round.
Tiger claimed the ninth-round gash, which brought blood pouring down to Fullmer's shiny white trunks, came from a solid smash with a right hand.
Referee Frankie Carter had it 10-1, judge Jack Downey 9-5 and judge Vern Bybee 7-5. Under the California system of one or more points to the winner of a round, none for the loser and zero for an even round.
Tiger is the second Nigerian to claim a world title, one he must share with America's Paul Pen-der, who is recognized in Massachusetts, New York and portions of Europe.
Tiger, whose real name is Richard Ihetu, has been boxing since 1955. His record now is 46 victories, 12 defeats and two draws.

Donovan Of Indians Is Runnerup

Orioles' Roberts Is Named AL Comeback Player Of Year

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Baltimore's Robin Roberts, named the American League Comeback Player of the Year in the annual Associated Press poll, says getting a chance to pitch regularly made him effective.

Cast off by the Philadelphia Phillies, with whom he was one of the National League's outstanding pitchers, and by the New York Yankees, Roberts said he was pleased about his being chosen in the poll.

Members of the Baseball Writers' Association gave him 81 of the 106 votes cast. Pitcher Dick Donovan of Cleveland got nine and pitcher Hank Aguirre of Detroit and second baseman Billy Moran of the Los Angeles Angels three each.

Winner of 234 games in 14 seasons with the Phillies, Roberts was sold to the Yankees last fall and released May 8. The Orioles signed him as a free agent two weeks later.

CALLING ALL PLAYS

Boys Must Sign Up By Next Wednesday

PPK Registration Deadline Is Soon

C. F. Tomlinson, competition Director for the Salem Punt, Pass & Kick contest for grade-school boys has warned that only a few days remain in which Salem area boys can register for the test of football skills which could lead to a White House visit and an appearance at the National Football League Championship game.

"Registrations will close Wednesday evening," Mr. Tomlinson pointed out, "and none can be accepted any later, since we must draw up our competition lists and get everything ready for the big program on Saturday, November 3."
Headquarters for registration for the Punt, Pass & Kick Competition, open to all grade school boys seven through 11, is at the Memorial Building or Bud Shaffer Ford.

There is no charge for registration nor is any special equipment needed. Competitors will vie with others of their age groups in contests of distance and accuracy in the passing, punting, and kicking (using a kicking tee) of footballs. There is no body contact.
Prizes in the Salem competition include Pittsburgh Steeler warm-up jackets for the top winner in each age group, football helmets for second place winners, and autographed footballs for third place winners.

Area winners, determined by comparing scores of all state winners, will receive expense-paid trips for themselves and their fathers to National Football League games for half-time competition to determine the ten finalists.

The National finalists and their parents will receive expense-paid trips to Washington for a White House reception, to be followed by a trip to the championship game of the National Football league, where the National winner in each age group will be determined by a half-time competition in the crowded stadium.

The Salem Punt, Pass & Kick competition is sponsored by Bud Shaffer Ford with Salem Park Commission as co-sponsor. The program, in which more than 200,000 boys competed throughout the country last year, is sponsored nationally by Ford Division of Ford Motor Company and the National Football League.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

The migratory waterfowl season opened at noon last Wednesday. The duck population seemed to be better than last year with mallards and wood ducks being most prevalent. Mixed in were a number of green wing teal and coot.

Two Canada geese were on Lake Guilford and 2 hunters in a green canoe were in pursuit. The geese swam to the bank and sort of hid in the willows. The hunters were about in gun range when a fisherman in a motor boat passed the canoe and flushed the geese. That was just one of those things as the fisherman knew nothing about the geese being on the shore.

About all the swampy area extending from the retaining wall at Guilford for about 2 miles east, has been leased by individuals. This is one area I would like to see come under ownership of The Ohio Division of Wildlife for the benefit of public hunting. Most of the land is either under water or submarginal and very little money would have to be spent by the state for development purposes according to my way of thinking.

I would advise all duck hunters to take anything they shoot because the law states that all waterfowl killed counts in the bag limit. Also the law states that the hunter must make every effort to retrieve all waterfowl shot or crippled and failure to do so could draw a fine of $15 to $200 before a County Judge.

For instance, you might shoot a coot or merganser and decide you did not want it so you might toss it aside. If you don't want this type of waterfowl don't shoot it. As scarce as some species of waterfowl is becoming it is senseless to think of using unwanted species for target shooting.

One hunter told me he did not know one duck from another. He had 2 teal in possession when I approached him and still banging away. Actually he had his limit in ducks and anyone that does not make an honest effort to identify one duck from another should get no sympathy from any game protector. One more duck killed and he would have received a citation.

You are allowed 2 ducks of combined species, although not more than one can be a mallard. In addition you are allowed 6 coot and 2 scaups (bluebills). Redheads and canvas backs none. Closed season this year.

It sounds as if I am acting as a reformer or some sort of a dictator to this duck and goose hunting situation but I assure you my honest intentions are to keep the hunters out of trouble if possible and all I ask is cooperation and feel free to call me at any time if you need information and I will do my best to help you keep out of trouble. Otherwise, the chips fall where they may.

Let's keep hunting a sporting event with no room for the un-learned or indifferent hunters who sometimes act as if fish and game are theirs regardless of the laws of conserving our natural resources. The time has come where that type of outdoor bandits must go.

Beaver Local Boosters Watch Demonstration

Believes Crisis Heading Toward Climax

Congress Recognizes War Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders grimly accepted today the prospect that full scale military action may be needed to back President Kennedy's move aimed at wiping out the Cuban missile threat to the Western Hemisphere.

Without exception, party leaders scheduled to confer with Kennedy late today on the crisis made it clear they recognized the risk of nuclear war is great. They are willing to take it.

Some of them expect a preliminary showdown with the Soviet Union in the shipping lanes almost momentarily. Others believe that if the President's demand for dismantling of Soviet controlled missile bases in Cuba is flouted, massive military action to take them over might come later.

The unanimous viewpoint that the crisis is heading toward a climax was sustained by a statement of Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

Dillon told a meeting of Latin American finance ministers in Mexico City Tuesday that if offensive preparations on the island are not halted immediately "further action will be fully justified."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, deputy Democratic

Senate leader, told reporters that, come what may, the United States "is not going to tolerate what they have in missiles already or any expansion of them."

Humphrey said that in White House meetings he had attended there had been no time limit set on Kennedy's demand for removal of the bases.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro should not longer have any doubts that the United States is ready to protect Western Hemisphere security.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview the situation is so tense that almost anything can happen. His deputy, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, said the prospect of a general nuclear war cannot be thrust aside.

After their conference with the President today, some of the congressional leaders expect to return to their home states to resume their campaigning. They were called in from around the country for an emergency White House meeting Monday just before Kennedy announced the United States was throwing a quarantine around Cuba to halt Soviet shipments of offensive weapons to the Caribbean island.

Industrial Plant's Move Is Good For City In Arkansas

By JOHN R. STARR
FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—The wedding of Borg-Warner Corp.'s huge Norg division and this one-time frontier city promises, after a year, to become a long, happy marriage.

Fort Smith is ready, willing and eager for other industrial giants to cast interested eyes in this direction.

The 2,100 jobs created at Norg's $20-million plant are among 6,500 collected by Fort Smith in the past two years.

Norg was the big one, and city officials say Borg-Warner's decision to move here from Muskegon, Mich., may have a long-range effect far more beneficial than its physical contribution of jobs and an estimated $10-million annual payroll.

"Norg's coming here was a tremendous thing for the prestige of our city," says Mayor Bob Brooksher. "It has caused other industries to come here."

Collier Wenderoth Jr., a poultry processing and feed executive who heads Fort Smith's aggressive Chamber of Commerce, says location of Borg-Warner here has created a new pride and enthusiasm among citizens.

Since Norg came, Fort Smith voters have approved a $2.1-million bond issue for new schools and $1.5 million for a civic auditorium by votes of 10 to 1.

The plant, dedicated Feb. 1, sprawls over 25 acres under one roof.

The massive task of retraining more than 2,000 factory workers is over. Of the 1,800 persons employed by Norg at Muskegon, 100 supervisory personnel and about 50 production workers made the move to Fort Smith. About 20 of these have returned to Michigan.

By EDWARD J. MARKAITZ
MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)— "There must be some reason they won't hire us. I wish I knew what it is."

This is the frustration still echoed by a hard core of some 300 veteran workers seeking other employment here since their jobs were among 1,800 lost by the move of Borg-Warner Corp.-Norg division to Fort Smith, Ark.

Spokesman DeWayne Pickard, former vice president of Allied Industrial Workers Local 404 at the Norg plant is among those who haven't found work.

Cooking Is Fun

By Cecily Brownstone

MARY'S ROAST PORK
1 pork loin half (about 5 pounds) 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon savory, 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt, 1/4 teaspoon medium-coarse black pepper.

Make sure that backbone is sawed nearly free of roast for easy carving. Mix together the salt, savory, garlic salt and pepper; rub mixture over fat side of pork. Place meat fat side up on rack in a shallow roasting pan; insert meat thermometer if used.

Roast in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until meat thermometer reads 185 degrees — 30 to 35 minutes per pound.

FRESH BROCCOLI SALAD
1 bunch broccoli, Boiling water, 1/2 cup salad oil, 1/4 cup red wine vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, Pepper to taste, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 small or 1/2 medium red onion (cut in paper-thin slices and separated into rings)

Pare fibrous outer covering from broccoli stalks, using a swivel-blade vegetable parer, up to buds. Cut through stalks and buds lengthwise, if necessary, to make uniform size. Wash in cold water.

Cook in a small amount of boiling water, in a kettle or 12-inch skillet, just until tender; drain well. In a large shallow container beat together with a fork the oil, vinegar, salt, pepper and sugar; arrange broccoli and onion rings in marinade.

Refrigerate for several hours turning once. Makes 6 servings.

FRENCH CHOCOLATE DESSERT

2-3 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 1 tablespoon water, 5 tablespoons soft butter, 4 eggs separated, 2-3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

In a 1-quart covered saucepan melt the chocolate with the water over very low heat; stir to make sure chocolate is entirely melted. Add butter and stir constantly until melted; remove from heat.

One at a time, stir in egg yolks until blended; set aside. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in sugar; continue beating if necessary until very stiff; beat in vanilla. Gently fold cooled chocolate mixture, a little at a time, into beaten egg whites. Turn into individual soufflé dishes or custard cups; cover and chill 6 hours or overnight. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: If you use an electric range, use the "warm" setting for melting the chocolate and butter.

GINGERBREAD
2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon baking soda, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ginger, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup old-fashioned molasses, 2 eggs, 1 cup hot water.

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, ginger, cinnamon and cloves. Cream shortening and sugar; mix in molasses. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with hot water. Turn into a greased and waxed paper lined pan (9 by 9 by 2 inches).

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) 40 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out or cut in pan. Serve hot.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Cataract Surgery Successful

Q—About a year ago I developed glaucoma. My doctor is getting the condition under control with eye drops. I have been under a great deal of nervous tension. Could this bring on glaucoma? What can I do besides use eye drops?

A—The exact cause of glaucoma is not known, but it is rare in persons under 50. So age of the arteries have something to do with it. Although nervous tension does not cause glaucoma, it may aggravate it. The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness recommends that you carefully follow your eye doctor's instructions and return for re-examination at the appointed time. Avoid excitement and worry insofar as possible. Avoid strained bowel movements. Avoid wearing a tight collar, corset or belt.

Also, keep your circulation active. Keep your teeth in good condition. Do not drink more than on cup of coffee or tea a day and make it fairly weak. Drink no alcohol. Follow your eye doctor's recommendations about watching movies or television. Have a regular yearly physical check-up by your family doctor.

Q—If frozen foods, especially meat and fish, are thawed out and then not used can they be refrozen?

A—This is not a good practice. It may result in the development of unpleasant flavor or odor due to some degree of auto-digestion caused by enzymes normally present in the meat. Furthermore, some of the vitamin content may be destroyed. If microorganisms are present, they will multiply as the temperature of the meat is raised. Although thorough cooking would destroy them, partial cooking could result in food poisoning. If the meat has been thawed and you find that you are invited out, it is best to cook the meat at once and serve it cold or warmed over next day.

Q—Is there anything you can take that will dissolve bladder stones or gravel?

A—Bladder stones come in assorted sizes and different chemical compositions. Attempts to dissolve them inside the bladder have not proved successful. As a matter of fact, they are not very soluble outside the bladder either. The smallest stones may be as fine as sand and pass without difficulty. Those that are too large to pass remain in the bladder and usually do no harm but those that are about the same diameter as the urethra pass with difficulty and are very painful.

Once such a stone is passed, it is important to find out what kind of stone it is because this may give your doctor a clue to what foods you should avoid to prevent the formation of further stones. Whatever the composition, all authorities agree that you should drink a total of seven or eight pints of fluids a day.

Salicylates have been used to prevent the formation of some kinds of bladder stone but should not be taken without medical supervision.

OUT OUR WAY

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

Children can come up with some of the most unusual things. The other day a very nice customer came in who lives near by. I said thank you young lady when I checked her out. Her little boys were with her. One of them got real angry at me. He said don't call her that. I said what, he said you called her a lady, she is not a lady, she is my mother. I didn't know how to get out of it so I said well I guess you know her better than I do.

I notice so many people with children are taking advantage of our low milk prices, 3 half gallons for just 97c.
